Mattapoisett Through the Looking Glass

The Origins of Town Landmarks

With the now-traditional Harbor Days festival planned for this weekend in Mattapoisett, residents may want to reflect on some of the more prominent points of interest in the picturesque Massachusetts town. Landmarks and historic buildings abound while driving through the center of this unimposing "place of rest," but these all-too-common sites and milestones haven't always been a part of the landscape, despite their apparent age and familiarity.

So while residents past and present enjoy the festive mood of this weekend's waterfront celebration, here's a look back at the origins of some of the town's more prominent landmarks, with kudos to both the Mattapoisett Historical Museum and an indispensable volume known as Mattapoisett and Old Rochester:

According to the history books, the birth of Mattapoisett's Free Public Library can be traced back to 1881, when during the Town Meeting that year, residents voted to transfer the "dog fund" to assist with establishing a public library. The whopping sum of $56.96 was made available for this purpose, and Isaiah P. Atsatt agreed to provide a room and librarian for two years. At first the library was located in the former Selectmen's office over Mr. Atsatt's store. Later, an unused upper room in the "primary" schoolhouse was cordoned off for this purpose.

Colonel George M. Barnard Jr. made a generous donation of periodicals — many of them in hardbound volumes. These, together with some 25 other titles, comprised the library's initial collection. Once open to the public, Monday evenings were designated "library nights," and these became so popular that residents had to draw a number for their turn. Within two years, the library collection grew to some 728 volumes, and a catalogue was then issued.

During the Town Meeting of 1902, George Purrington Jr. made the gracious offer of $10,000 to erect a new building to house the growing collection. Said structure — which still serves the local community to this day — was built upon a lot given to the town by Samuel D. Warren. Additional funding from the estate of William B. Rogers was used to purchase book stacks and the library trustees went to work to catalogue a collection which expanded to over 4,500 titles by 1904.

Burning News!

Mattapoisett village already had a fire apparatus prior to separating from Old Rochester. Through the act which incorporated Mattapoisett in 1857, it was stated: "Mattapoisett shall pay Rochester their proportion of twelve hundred dollars for the interest they have in the fire department; and Rochester shall relinquish all right and claim in said fire department to Mattapoisett."

In 1858, Mattapoisett voted to accept Engine No. 1 and established a fire company of no more than twenty members. An engine house and related fixtures were purchased for $396.49, and by 1859 the town's fledgling Fire Department lay claim to the engine house and lot, two fire engines, twelve leather and eleven wooden buckets, 25-feet of suction hose, 600-feet of leading hose, two torches, one lantern, two stoves and pipe, four fire hooks, and four ladders (about 100 feet each).

In the early days of the town, a few disastrous conflagrations took place — but each time the newly-established Fire Department was able to spare the town from further destruction. Shortly before the incorporation of the town, "The County House" hotel run by Leonard Hammond went up in flames, along with an adjoining stable, a nearby boat shop, a store then run by George Purrington Jr., a nine-pin bowling alley, and the home of Jonathan H. Holmes.

On June 27, 1846 the whale ship Joseph Meigs burned to the water's edge while anchored near the Mattapoisett Light (Ned's Point Lighthouse). The ship had just arrived in town with a full cargo and was waiting for an opportunity to reach Long Wharf. The late night fire — fueled by the flammable oil aboard — made lit up the Mattapoisett skyline. Fortunately, the ship was towed ashore and the upper portion was rebuilt to sail once again.

Get to the Point!

For longtime residents of Mattapoisett, the name "Ned's Point" is as commonplace as McDonald's and Dunkin' Donuts to the general populus. But those who are visiting town for the first time can't resist asking: "What's Ned's Point?" and/ or "Who's Ned?"

Well, "Ned" was actually a nickname for Edward Dexter, the former owner of the property which protrudes from one of the most scenic points in Mattapoisett Harbor. Situated on the eastern shore of the harbor, the property is now under town control, with a single granted easement running through the middle. Said easement was granted to and is still held by the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary to care and maintain for the Ned's Point Lighthouse — an historic structure even more famous than Ned's Point itself.

The board also received notification from Chief Administrative Secretary of Rochester, Shirley Ferreira on behalf of the Rochester Board of Selectmen, requesting the next year's catch be on Saturday and the number of bushel remain at 50. Selectman Mahoney said the board would take this information under advisement, but that he "didn't agree with either suggestion."

The board also received information about meetings scheduled throughout the week. The Buzzards Bay Advisory Committee will hold a meeting on Wednesday, July 12 at 12:00 pm at the Bank of Boston, New Bedford. The Marion/Mattapoisett/Rochester Housing Co-Op will also hold a meeting on Wednesday, July 12 at 7:00 pm.

have no adverse environmental impacts on the town," Selectmen wrote. Mr. Hathaway angrily responded to their letter.

"To state outright that the New Bedford casino will not be detrimental to this community, the town of Mattapoisett, flies in the face of what many voters in this town believe," Mr. Hathaway wrote.

Selectman Mahoney said they wrote a letter stating how they thought the casino would effect the area. "We weren't required to check with Mr. Hathaway," said Selectman Mahoney.

There be being no further matters to come before the board, they voted to adjourn for the evening at 8:20 pm.

The board met with Susan King, Animal Control Officer, to discuss correspondence she sent the board about her first month in her post. She and "Assistant Gilbert Leonardo have responded to sixty-seven calls in June." She has created a log to keep track of and number calls. The Schaefers donated a freezer to Animal Control, which makes the "disposal process more efficient and sanitary." Both Ms. King and Mr. Leonardo will soon have uniforms so they can each "be recognized on animal calls as someone in a position of authority with the Town of Marion."

Three raccoons have been tested positive for rabies; one unfortunately came in contact with a dog whose shots were not up-to-date. Ms. King said that Dr. Robert Tremblay will probably offer a rabies clinic towards the end of the month. She added that he has been very helpful.

Ms. King also brought up the issue of dogs' presence on public beaches. The Selectmen clarified that dogs are not allowed in the entire area, including the playground, beach, parking lot, and any other fenced-in section. Many people do not realize that dogs are also not allowed on Planting Island, the other public beach. Referring to a way to get this law obeyed, Ms. King said, "Possibly we could look into some kind of citation." Loose dogs will be picked up. As Selectman Schaefer said, "Public beaches are really no-dog areas for health

The board met with Scott Cowell, Chairman of the Recreation Commission, about cleaning the Music Hall and installing a telephone there. He added that there needs to be some regulation over who sets up and puts away the tables and chairs. The Selectmen have made arrangements to clean the bathrooms. According to Mr. Cowell, "the facility is being used a lot" and there is need for a phone. Selectman Dickerson recommended installing a phone for local calls only. The board agreed to look into the telephone situation, which includes a phone at the beach which is used two months and paid for all year.

Under other matters of discussion, the board agreed to send Ms. King to the new Animal Control Officer's Academy one day each week for 16 weeks. The board approved (with Dickerson abstaining from the vote) a request from the Police Chief to increase the salary of the special police officers to $10 an hour; the increase is already in his new budget.

Selectman Schaefer proposed the creation of a new tradition which would recognize Marion residents on their 100th birthdays. She remarked that it is an "incredible feat to be 100 years young." The first resident to receive the certificate will be Helen G. Carrington who will turn 100 in late July. Schaefer declared her date of birth to be "Helen Carrington Day" this year and the board agreed.

complaint by Dog Officer Thomas Medeiros about an unrestrained dog owned by Ramon and Vicki Rivera.

Mr. Medeiros said he went to the Rivera's house after a neighbor called concerned about a child's safety around the unrestrained animal. After he arrived, a dog came out of the bushes and bit his hand, he said.

One of the dogs on the property isn't registered, Mr. Medeiros also noted.

Ms. Rivera, who was present at the hearing, said the second dog was fairly new and said she intended on registering it soon.

Mr. Medeiros said it was a dangerous situation.

"At the time, he stated the dog was trained to attack anyone on their property, there were no warning signs," Mr. Medeiros said.

"He may not have bitten prior (to that incident), I thought it should be tied up, restrained at all times," Mr. Medeiros noted.

Selectman Hughes asked Ms. Rivera if the dog was trained to attack people who entered the property.

"No, that was the only time the dog attacked (someone). If she was trained, she wouldn't have just nipped you. Neither one of us told him (Mr. Medeiros) the dog was trained to attack. I told him it was trained to guard our house. She'll growl, but other than that there are no problems," Ms. Rivera explained.

Ms. Rivera said the dog is restrained when she isn't home.

"He was 10 feet away from my door and he had a shot gun to shoot her, I question your training," she told Mr. Medeiros.

Mr. Medeiros said the dog came running from a hill and bite him.

"I got a weapon, in case it came at me again. You took the dog away. You told me the dog was trained to attack," Mr. Medeiros said.

Ms. Rivera said she never said that.

Selectman Hughes next read a letter from a neighbor, Raymond Mello.

"It is my understanding that you are having a hearing concerning a dog that attacked the Dog Officer. We own land abutting the Springwood Drive subdivision and several months back one of our employees was confronted by an aggressive dog on the property while performing work in that area. We are not only concerned about our employees having to defend themselves against attack dogs but also of the many children who take shortcuts through the woods in this area. Most animals will defend their property but when an animal roams and is aggressive outside of its area this situation is dangerous and should not have to be tolerated by neighbors. Your attention to this matter is appreciated."

Considering this is the first offense, Selectman Hughes said the dog didn't have to be permanently confined to the property but said, "measures should be taken to keep the dog restrained."

"If the dog continues to be a nuisance, the board will ask you to restrain him permanently," said Selectman Hughes.

Selectman Hawkes said the dog probably sensed an aggressive person on the property.

Ms. Rivera said neighbors appreciated her dog since there have been break-ins in the area.

"The only reason we had a problem with that boy is because he throws rocks at him," Ms. Rivera said.

Selectman Hawkes made a motion to for the owners to put warning signs up and keep the dog restrained when no one was home. Selectman Hughes seconded the motion; it passed via majority vote.

The dog hearing for Lorne Estabrooke has been postponed until July 24 at 7:00 pm.

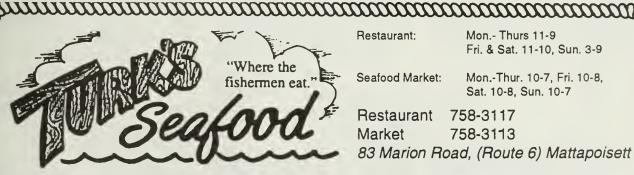

Next the board met with Finance Committee (FinCom) Chairman Patricia Ryan to discuss the Cherry Sheets for Fiscal Year 1996 from the Department of Revenue. She said there was more than enough money in the budget so there is no need to hold a Special Town Meeting.

The board next received correspondence from Steve Blanchard, a Carver Police Officer.

Selectmen Hughes read the letter during the meeting.

"With a great sense of gratitude I write to thank you for sharing with the town of Carver the services of Police Officer Steve Reimer. Officer Reimer, as you know, filled a road paving detail in Carver on Friday, June 23, 1995. He represented the town of Rochester as only a finely trained Good Will Ambassador could. Officer Reimer directed traffic in front of my home that morning and took special care to make my 7-year-old son Timothy feel like the most important person in the world. Officer Reimer should be highly commended for his dedication to duty, service and public awareness and respect. Every town needs more public servants like Steve Reimer. You should be proud."

Selectman Hughes said the letter had already been placed in Officer Remeir's personnel file.

The board next received a request from the Board of Appeals for a by-law change concerning the definition of frontage.

Selectman Hughes said a hearing for the by-law change should be held prior to the next Town Meeting.

Under Old Business, Selectman Hughes called Dog Officer Thomas Medeiros before the board to find out if he found a radio to use for emergencies.

Mr. Medeiros said he learned the Tree Warden, Mr. Donald Jenkins who passed away recently, had been given a radio from the town. Selectman Hawkes made a motion to give the radio to the Dog Officer to place in his truck.

Selectman Hughes asked Mr. Medeiros if there was enough money in his budget to install the radio.

Mr. Medeiros said it would be a tight squeeze, but could manage for now.

Under other Old Business, Selectman Hughes made a motion to have Highway Surveyor Jeff Eldridge act as Tree Warden until the election in April. The board voted to notify Mr. Bernard Talty, who had expressed interest in the position, about their decision. Selectman Hawkes seconded the motion, it passed via majority.

On July 25, at 6:30 pm, selectmen will meet with the candidates who have applied for the town clerk position in the Building Inspector's office.

Selectman Hughes made a motion to send a letter to the committee that organized the Marion Fireworks for doing a great job.

Selectmen then adjourned the personnel meeting and reopened the selectmen's meeting.

Senior Center Questionnaire

The Senior Center Ad Hoc Advisory Committee would like to thank members of the Friends of the Elderly, the Senior Club and the Council on Aging for volunteering their own time in order to assist with the preparation of mailing questionnaires. On Friday, June 30 questionnaires were mailed out to citizens of Mattapoisett, aged 50 and over to determine what interest people might have in establishing a senior center in town. Individuals are strongly encouraged to return these questionnaires as promptly as possible either by mailing them, or by dropping them off outside the office of The Council on Aging at the Mattapoisett Town Hall. Results will then be shared with the selectmen, as well as the public to

McCra Scholarship Fund

Donations to the Melanie McCra Scholarship Fund are now being accepted at the Town Hall in Rochester. The scholarship has been established to aid a member of the Old Rochester Regional Class of 2000 — of which Melanie would have been a member — to attend college.

Harbor Days Painting Raffle

As is the tradition of the Mattapoisett Lions Club, they will once again be sponsoring an art raffle on the final day of Mattapoisett's Harbor Days weekend — Sunday, July 16 at 3:30 pm — with all proceeds to benefit eye research and other Lions' Club charities. The Sunday drawing will be held at Shipyard Park for a scenic painting of the Ned's Point Lighthouse as viewed from the harbor. The painting is the creation of artist Robert Duff and was donated by the Depot Gallery.

The panoramic portrait of Ned's Point as depicted by Mr. Duff is a vibrant and colorful view of sunset on Mattapoisett Harbor, with a lone boater in the foreground steering his vessel clear of other boats anchored in the water.

Raffle tickets for the painting are being sold at $1 each, or a booklet of 3 for $2. The tickets are now available through any Lions Club member, at Don's Tire on Route 6, at Dunn Insurance Agency on Route 6, at the Ice Cream Slip near the wharf, or at Citizens Bank, where the painting is currently on display.
